

THE DAILY BEE.

Friday Morning, June 6.

PRINTERS WANTED.

A number of good printers can find steady employment at this office.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A great deal of complaint is heard because of a pool of stagnant water on Harney street near Twenty-third.

"Was you at the play last night?" "Oh, yes, that play is bound to be all the rage (ah isn't it?) Stuffed cattle, five minutes up lent exercise, tableaux."

The granite paving on Thirtieth street is progressing rapidly, while the asphaltum on the cross streets is being laid very rapidly and it will be but a few weeks when the work shall have been completed.

A sale of fancy articles just received from the east, will be held at the Child's Hospital and Home, on Saturday, June 7th, from two p. m. to, to which everybody is invited. No entrance fee, and plenty of cake, strawberries and ice cream on demand.

This evening an entertainment will be given at the First Congregational church, the proceeds of which will be added to the building fund. A program of a very high order has been prepared and a musical and literary treat is promised to all who attend.

Wednesday about nine p. m. word came to town that a man had been shot near the rail works. A similar report regarding a man at the stock yards, had earlier proved unfounded, and some doubt was entertained of the truth of the rail works business. At all events officer Knight drove to the works to investigate and found that a tramp who refused to give his name, had got into a quarrel and had been shot by another of the same occupation. The wound is not dangerous though a painful one. It bled profusely, nevertheless. The tramp will survive.

NEW BUILDINGS.

A Large Number of New Buildings Now Being Erected.

The building boom in Omaha this season promises to be larger than for many years previous. Not alone in building will large sums of money be expended. Many thousands of dollars have already been spent and many more will follow in grading down and filling up lots, which has been made necessary by the grading of the streets.

A number of the architects were visited yesterday to ascertain about how many new buildings would be erected and by whom.

The principal building under way is that of W. A. Paxton, on the southeast corner of Farnam and Fifteenth streets. The plans for which indicate that it will be one of the handsomest in the city. Forty-four feet fronting on Farnam street and 132 of Fifteenth street, the building will be five stories high, surrounded by a heavy cornice and balustrade. The first story floor is three steps above the sidewalk and will be fitted up for single store double width, with a recessed entrance on Farnam street, a side entrance on Fifteenth street and access to the stairway and elevator from the front of the building is divided by four projecting piers, and the stories are separated by alternate courses of terra cotta and iron and stone. Chicago pressed brick is the principal material for the walls. The stairway and elevator leading to the upper stories are reached through a highly ornamental doorway, finished with stained glass and mahogany and standing twenty feet north of the main entrance. The building will be light building, and the height will be 87 feet from the ground, which it is said will carry it a little higher than the Paxton hotel.

Charles Karbach and George Warren Smith began yesterday to tear down their frame store on the south side of Douglas street below Fifteenth. They each erect there a store 22 by 118, 3 stories high of Chicago pressed brick and plate glass fronts. Mr. Goldsmith will occupy the Karbach store.

Parlin, Orendorf and Martin, the dealers in agricultural implements, are about to put up a two-story brick warehouse, 60 by 112, on Ninth and Jones streets.

McShane & Schroeder are having plans drawn for a brick warehouse 66 by 114, three stories high, on Leavenworth street near Fourteenth.

M. Elgert is preparing to build a row of six stores each, 22x45, two stories high, on Tenth and Pacific streets.

Dr. Wright has partly built already a block 66x100, three stories and basement, on Chicago and Sixteenth streets.

Miss A. Wilson has erected the first story already of a block 66x100, three stories and basement, on Twelfth and Capitol avenues.

T. C. Brunner has reached the second story of his three-story store 22x64 on Sixteenth and Dodge streets.

O. F. Davis & Co.'s three-story store 33x54, on Farnam above Fifteenth street, has reached the second story.

John A. Creighton, Mrs. Creighton and H. O. Jones are each building a four-story and basement store 22 by 120 on Dodge street, west of the postoffice.

Mrs. John A. Creighton is building two stories, each 22 by 88, on Douglas street, above Fifteenth, four stories high.

Ex-Senator Saunders is building a three-story brick store, 22 by 75, on the north side of Douglas street, below Fifteenth.

Jerry Mahoney has let the contract for the erection of a two-story and basement building, 40 by 64, on Thirtieth and Leavenworth streets.

Hartman & Hallman have nearly finished the three-story and basement building, 44 by 75, on Fourteenth street, between Douglas and Dodge.

John A. Creighton contemplates adding a fourth story to the Creighton block and putting in an elevator.

The foregoing is only a partial list, there being as many more architects to hear from upon business buildings in the city now under contract or about to be let.

Dufrene & Mendelssohn are the architects of the Paxton, Parlin, Orendorf & Martin, Karbach, Smith, Brunner, Wright and Wilson buildings; Cleves Brothers are architects of the Creighton, Jones, Saunders, McShane & Schroeder, Mahoney and Riggitt buildings; B. A. Fowler is architect of Davis & Co's building.

Messrs. Smith, Voss, Driscoll, Largo, McPherson, Boehnke, Douglas and Field, architects, are all busy and building notes from them will be given in a later edition.

A Surprise.
Wednesday eve, the Concordia singing society surprised Mr. Henry Meyer, at his residence, corner of Eighteenth and Jackson streets. The society was accompanied by the Musical Union orchestra and the evening was given up to music and social intercourse.

Accuracy.
The only thing funny about the tragedy at Bethlehem yesterday is the variety of accounts of it printed by the newspapers. Not one of them except The Journal has it anything near as it occurred. The Bee takes the cake. It says, speaking of Bright shooting himself: "After having completed this hellish deed, he procured a revolver, and placing the muzzle against his own breast he pulled the trigger and fell to the floor, a corpse, shot through the heart." The facts are that after completing this hellish deed he grabbed a musket which he purposed had conveniently near, lay down on the floor upon his back, placed the trigger with his toe and blew his brains out.—Plattsmouth Journal.

We fail to see what great difference it can make whether he shot himself with a musket, a revolver or a cannon, or whether he shot himself through the breast or in the neck. Suffice it to say, the man is dead, and that he shot himself, and that the Bee published an account of the affair in advance of all other papers in this section.

Wei De Meyer.
It is now undisputed that Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure is the only treatment that will absolutely cure Catarrh—fresh or chronic. "Very efficacious. Saml Gould, Weeping Water, Neb. One box cured me, Mrs. Mary Kenyon, Bismarck, Dakota." "It restored me to the pulpit. Rev. George E. Hale, Belleville, N. Y." "One box radically cured me. Rev. C. H. The Magical Combination That Gave the Game to the U. P's.

An Exciting Contest Yesterday Afternoon at Base Ball Park.

One of the most exciting games of ball ever played in Omaha was witnessed yesterday afternoon at the U. P. grounds by about 500 people, the Rock Islands of the contestants. A close contest had been looked for, and the spectators were not disappointed. No one could name the victors until the third man had been put out, closing the ninth inning.

The game opened with the Union Pacifics at the bat. McKelvey on a hit and an error of short-stop reached first. Bandle touched the first bag also on an error, McKelvey reaching third. It now looked as if the Union Pacifics might at least save a whitewash, but Funkhouser and Carroll were fielded out and McKelvey was caught between bases, thus putting the side out. For the Rock Islands, Walsh and Cavanaugh scored in this inning. There was no more run-getting until the fifth inning when, with McKelvey on third and Bandle on second, and after two strikes had been called, Funkhouser made a magnificent drive to center field for a life bringing in the men on bases. Whitney then hit the ball to the left field fence, Funkhouser reaching third. Carroll then made a three-bagger, Funkhouser and Whitney scoring. Carroll reached home on Dwyer's safe hit, who was left on base by Cavanaugh's catch of Rockwell's fly to right field. The Rock Islands scored another run in the sixth, and four more in the seventh innings. In the eighth the Union Pacifics, by McKelvey's three baser, were credited with two runs by Dwyer and Bryan, who each reached base on single safe hits. In this inning the Rock Islands were unable to score, thus making the game at this stage a tie. In the ninth Funkhouser was given a life by a passed ball by Cavanaugh, and was brought home by singles of Whitney and Dwyer, who failed to score. None of the Rock Islands in this innings were able to cross the home plate, the Union Pacifics thus winning the game.

The contest, interesting from the beginning, was interspersed with many inexcusable errors and an occasional brilliant play. Rockwell was in fine form and pitched a great game, retiring no less than nine Rock Islanders on strikes. Hudson, for his team, pitched equally as well putting out the same number.

An unpleasant incident of yesterday's game was the hissing and "kicking" against the umpire. The managers should see to it that this disagreeable feature hereafter be omitted and if persisted in this indulging in it should be summarily ejected from the ground. Below is the score:

horse to take fright, when it dashed madly up the road and in attempting to turn on Saunders street, fell, and in so doing fractured its leg. The animal was afterwards shot.
